

Understanding the Barriers to Employment for Female Refugees with Physical Disabilities

A Research Partnership between S.U.C.C.E.S.S. and the University of British Columbia

The research is partnered with the S.U.C.C.E.S.S. ACT Program (A Specialized Program for highly Vulnerable Newcomers), and directed by Dr. Suzanne Huot from the Department of Occupational Science and Occupational Therapy at the University of British Columbia.

Goal of the Study: To learn from female refugees with physical disabilities and their caregivers living in Metro Vancouver about their experiences and perspectives of preparing for, searching for, and obtaining work.

We would like to invite you to a Town Hall session to:

- ❖ Present the preliminary results of a study that has been conducted with female refugees with physical disabilities about their employment and labour market experiences
- ❖ Receive your feedback and input regarding the issues presented*
- ❖ Discuss recommendations for practice and policy to enhance the labour market participation of female refugees with disabilities in Metro Vancouver*

Notes will be taken during the discussion to allow us to record insights shared, but no identifying information will be recorded.*

This Town Hall session will take place:

Thursday, June 6, 2019 from 9:15 am to 11:30 am
