Introduction

The BC Newcomer Services Program (BCNSP) and BC Services and Assistance for Humanitarian and Vulnerable Newcomers (SAFE HAVEN) are provincial programs designed to support the social and economic integration of newcomers and vulnerable populations in British Columbia who are not eligible for federally funded services. This document will focus on the SAFE HAVEN program, but first, we will introduce the BCNSP program and highlight the key differences between the two.

Both programs distribute funding across the province based on regional client estimates and specific geographic and immigration needs, using a hub-and-spoke model. In this model, a central Service Provider Organization (SPO) in major centers delivers services, ensuring that clients in smaller communities also have access, either locally or remotely. This approach fosters collaboration, resource sharing, and tailored support for smaller communities, with lead contract holders facilitating regular communication between hubs and spokes to ensure all regions are included.

Program Overview

BCNSP provides settlement services to newcomers who are not eligible for federally funded immigrant support programs. These services help clients overcome barriers to integration, benefiting both the newcomers and the broader community socially and economically. Different client groups may face unique challenges:

Work Permit Holders: May struggle with transitioning to permanent status and may be vulnerable to abuse or exploitation.

Study Permit Holders: Face challenges in achieving labor market outcomes and dealing with separation from home and family.

Naturalized Canadian Citizens: Even after several years in Canada, some may still rely on settlement services due to crises, language barriers, or social isolation.

Others with Immigration Status: Includes individuals who may be vulnerable due to their precarious status, such as refugee claimants, CUAET visa holders, and BC Provincial Nominees.

Eligibility

All newcomers ineligible for federally funded services, with the requirement for certain services shifted from a "pathway to permanent residency" to an "intention to reside long-term."

Services

- Settlement Services
- Employment Services for those with a valid work permit
- Formal English Language Training (ELT)

Service Providers

The program operates through 31 contract holders and 22 subcontractors in 80+ communities. Full details are available at WelcomeBC.ca

Program Overview

SAFE HAVEN supports refugee claimants and other vulnerable newcomers (listed below) in British Columbia who cannot access federally funded programs. The program helps these individuals integrate socially and economically into their communities, providing the necessary support for their success through a network of service providers.

Eligibility

Individuals living in BC with the following immigration statuses, along with their spouses and dependent family members, are eligible for SAFE HAVEN:

Refugee Claimants: Those who have submitted a claim and received relevant documentation.

Asylum Seekers: Individuals intending to submit a refugee claim.

CUAET Visa Holders: Canada-Ukraine Authorization for Emergency Travel visa holders.

Refugees: Protected Persons and Resettled Refugees, including Government-Assisted and Privately Sponsored Refugees.

Other Humanitarian Pathways: Includes individuals with temporary resident visas or permanent resident status under specific IRCC public policies.

Services

- YVR Settlement Services
- Settlement and Immigration Services
- Employment Services
- Language Services
- Accommodation Services
- Counselling Services

see next page for details on these services*

Service Providers

Details of service providers by region are outlined in the following sections.

Services Provided

The SAFE HAVEN program offers many services to support clients:

1. YVR Settlement Services

- Welcome and information for newcomers at Vancouver International Airport (YVR).

2. Settlement and Immigration Services

- Assistance with navigating immigration,
- Understanding rights and responsibilities, and
- Accessing community resources.

3. Employment Services

- Support with searching for jobs,
- Writing a resume,
- Preparing for interviews,
- Understanding the job market, and
- Finding employers and job-placement services.

4. Language Services

- Language assessment and English Language Training (ELT) for different skill levels and professional needs.

5. Accommodation Services

- Assistance in finding and securing housing,
- Understanding tenancy rights, and
- Settling into long-term housing solutions.

6. Counselling Services

- Clinical counselling services for trauma, stress, and other psychological needs.
- Specialized services for survivors of torture and trauma.

SAFE HAVEN Eligibility

The table below shows which clients can access different types of SAFE HAVEN services. Refugee claimants can access all SAFE HAVEN services, except for urgent accommodation support. Asylum seekers can access settlement services, except for information, orientation and referrals at Vancouver International Airport (YVR). CUAET visa holders, refugees, and all humanitarian newcomers can only access clinical counselling services.
